An asterisk (*) after the product name indicates the product meets USDA Food and Nutrition Service's definition of a food of minimal nutritional value and is included in Appendix B of 7 CFR Part 210. While it meets the definition of a competitive food under the Nutrition Standards for Competitive Foods and Beverages in Public Schools, the sale of this product is prohibited from being sold in the foodservice area during breakfast and lunch periods.

A check in the HUSSC column or the GAD column indicates the food/beverage also meets those respective criteria. Products meeting the GAD criteria contain no more than 200mg of sodium per package or container.

This list is not reviewed or approved by USDA; products on this list are not approved or endorsed by USDA and all products may not meet the Gold Award of Distinction criteria.
